OKTAT3S C3LJA / AIM OF THE COURSE

Course description and objectives:

African Studies is a subject that aims at sharing Africa-related political, economic, business, social, cultural and technological issues with the students. In our globalised world Africa has been struggling to find a honorable place. Amid various challenges - despite its abundant natural resources - the continent is trying to find new opportunities in order to reach a sustainable level of development. This course is designed to present the current African reality, its future prospects and development strategies.
